Hardy's Counsel Ends Argument On Demurrer Motion

SENATE WILL TAKE BALLOT WEDNESDAY

Vote Will Determine Whether Impeachment Trial Shall Proceed or Not COURTROOM CROWDED Many Persons Bring Lunch With Them in Order to Get and Hold Good Seat

SACRAMENTO, March 19.—(UP)—Defense attorneys in the impeachment trial of Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy of Los Angeles today closed their argument in support of a motion to throw the case out of court for insufficient charges.

Assemblyman Harry Sewell of Whittier, the first of two speakers for the assembly board of managers, opened his argument shortly before noon. He was to be followed by Assemblyman Walter J. Little of Santa Monica, chairman of the prosecuting board.

Indications were that a final vote would be taken by the senate on the motion for demurrer today, to determine whether the impeachment trial shall proceed.

The Los Angeles judge, defended by his son, is charged with having accepted a $2,500 "love offering" from Mrs. McPherson while he was on the bench.

ORANGE COUNTY AVOCADO CROP WILL EXCEED 600,000 POUNDS

PROPOSALS FOR PEACE OFFERED BY INSURGENTS

Federal Forces Pursue Rebels As They Flee From Captured Torreon BY G. F. FINE United Press Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, March 19.—Plutarco Elias Calles, minister of war who personally is in command of federal troops on the northern front, informed the press today that federal columns would leave the captured city of Torreon immediately to "fight and exterminate" rebel forces in the state of Chihuahua.

Calles said he would reach Torreon by airplane or automobile this morning from Guadalupe Victoria, about 80 miles south of that city.

The government announced that rebel leaders in the state of Chihuahua made peace proposals through the Mexican consulate at El Paso but the proposals were flatly rejected and the offensive against the fleeing troops of the rebel general J. Gonzales Escobar was continued.

Escobar evacuated Torreon before the advance of Calles' army and fled northward to Escalon, state of Chihuahua.

It was assumed Escobar was attempting to reach rebel troops at Chihuahua City, where Governor Caraveo is in command of insurgents.

Calles' message to President Portes Gil said he was leaving Torreon "with a view to starting immediately the organization of columns which will march toward Chihuahua to fight and exterminate the traitors."

Anaheim Boys Remove Coat, Pants Of Youth

ANAHEIM, March 19.—Police officers here are trying to identify the two youths who stopped another youth of this city on his way to church and removed his trousers and coat, running away with the garments and placing them on a fence several blocks away.

The disrobed young man said he knew the boys by their first names but had no idea where they lived or why they had waylaid him. The boys paid no attention to the protests of the young man they undressed or to his mother, who was with him, the complaint at the station states.

DRAMATICS TO BE BARRED IN HOOVER DRIVE

Plan for Building Up Law Enforcement Will Lack Sensationalism

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(UP)—There will be no drastic or dramatic drive to enforce prohibition under President Hoover, but the administration will follow a vigorous and well defined policy for building up law enforcement generally.

The government, it was learned on high authority, today, will avoid all acts of sensational character in its enforcement efforts and will confine itself to generally building up law enforcement and reducing crime.

In this effort the government expects the support of the press and of all law-abiding citizens. Although prohibition represents one of the major aspects of the reorganization and enforcement project it will not be the only aim of the new policy.

Narcotics, immigration smuggling and all other violations of federal law will be dealt with in the administration's general policy to reduce crime throughout the country.

GASOLINE GOES UP SIX CENTS IN SANTA ANA

Larger Companies Increase Price to Dealers—Others Follow Tomorrow

SANTA ANA motorists today grieved with others throughout the state when the price of gasoline was advanced six cents per gallon by the major oil companies of the coast.

It still was possible in Santa Ana and elsewhere today to buy gasoline as low as 11½ cents and 12½ cents a gallon, but low prices seemed doomed, with every prospect that the smaller independent concerns tomorrow would advance their price to retailers to the point where they would have to charge 13½ cents a gallon or give away some of their profits by quoting a lower figure.

Retailers of Standard, Shell, Union and Associated gasolines today were selling at 13½ cents, following a raise of six cents a gallon made effective this morning.

The Richfield had not fallen in line, but it was anticipated the company would elevate the wholesale price by tomorrow to correspond with the quotation of the other large concerns.

General, Hancock, Macmillan, Marine, Western and other brands distributed in this district were retailing at 12½ cents, and lower in some special instances, according to reports.

It was apparent today that the big companies had taken the bull by the horn in an effort to stop the price war raging here for the past three months. The higher prices will command attention and respect, it was asserted. Except under contracts made when conditions were favorable, the margin to dealers has been cut by the big wholesalers to a possible 3 cents, with the dealer selling under 13½ losing some of his profit.

Yield Here To Set Record In Cash Returns

Industry Establishing Itself Beyond Experimental Stage

WITH 40 per cent of their crop harvested, Orange county avocado growers today are expecting to pick a total of 600,000 pounds of fruit before the present season ends—a bumper yield far exceeding any previous harvest, and one which will bring in the largest financial return ever known here.

The 1927-1928 avocado harvest in Orange county was 235,105 pounds and, according to C. V. Newman, manager of the San Joaquin Fruit company and president of the Calavo Growers of California the 1928-1929 yield will total 600,000 pounds in this county, while the state as a whole will produce approximately 4,000,000 pounds. The 1927-1928 return to the growers was $77,402.22.

Despite the fact that the much larger yield this season is expected to result in somewhat lower prices than prevailed last year, the total income from the crop will exceed that of last year, the largest on record, Newman said.

"It is a well known fact," he continued, "that growers of most other fruit crops in California have gone through periods of great depression and 'red ink' returns because they have been able to get on a comparatively profitable basis and some of them are still in trouble. The Calavo Growers of California always has returned a comparatively high price to its grower members even in the pioneer days which we have been going through. The members of the organization have paid the expenses of the necessary educational and experimental work, which have been somewhat high owing to the small volume of fruit to spread the cost over. Having paid these, they still have received very much higher net returns per pound than is the case with any other perishable fruit."

"The Calavo Growers of California feel that their industry is one of great value to the state not only because the fruit is one of high intrinsic food value and is being grown by hundreds of the finest

FLOOD DISASTER PASSES PEAK IN ALABAMA; 25,000 HOMELESS IN IMMEDIATE NEED OF HELP

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 19.—(UP)—Gov. Bibb Graves announced early today he believed the state's flood disaster has passed its peak and that the great problem remaining was the immediate housing of the thousands of homeless left by the receding waters. Reports from the several flood sections indicated there was little fear of more deaths. The Alabama river, though out of its banks and flooding the lowland cotton fields of Wilcox county will cause no such damage as was caused by the rushing Pea river in the Geneva-Elba district, it was thought.

At Camden, in the heart of the new flood district, residents reported by telephone that, though roads were washed out, they did not contemplate leaving their homes. The section is populated almost entirely by Negro cotton farmers.

The number of homeless from the Geneva-Elba district is estimated at 19,000; from the Brewton-Flomaton district, 5,000; all other districts, 10,000. The loss to both districts in improved real estate and personal loss is estimated at $30,000,000.

The number of persons dead is placed officially at approximately 100.

The danger of spread of disease in the districts returning to normal is diminishing rapidly according to reports from state health officials.

Looting is at an end according to Col. W. E. Persons. Martial law effectively stopped the ghoulish work and to keep it stopped the law still is in effect.

Briefly, rescue operations are being carried on as follows:

Food is being carried to isolated spots by plane and dropped by parachute to the needy.

The same procedure is taken with bed-clothes, clothing, tents and medicine. In the Georgia section, efforts are being made by the U. S. coast guard to navigate the swollen rivers with low-draft patrol boats.

Shelter will be provided by tents delivered by plane and eventually by a rehabilitation program to be carried out by Gov. Graves.

All operations are under direction of the national Red Cross and the Alabama National Guard.

Northwest Florida presents one acute situation today. The Caryville and Milligan sections still are under several feet of water. All residents reached high ground before the waters rose.

In Georgia, the village of Newton remains flooded, its 400 residents safely on high ground outside the town.

In Alabama, Selma still is flooded. Late yesterday the Alabama river at this point was at a 56 foot stage. According to reports reaching here however, the condition is well in hand.

Reports from the country sections of all states are entirely lacking. It is hoped air surveys will give officials some idea of what is needed. In Alabama particularly there is a large scattered population which has not yet been heard from.

April 18 Is Date Set For Holding Ballot on Petition of Property Owners

ANNEXATION by Santa Ana of territory north to Chapman street, Orange.

Extension of North Broadway across the railroad tracks to a connection with the wide boulevard—

Installation of an ornamental lighting system and the planting of trees along the new street—

Planting of a hedge along the west side of the highway to obscure view of the railroad tracks—

Construction of a concrete bridge over Santiago creek on Flower to Santa Clara avenue—

Creation of an assessment district embracing the entire city to pay the cost of improvements estimated at $300,000—

This is the big program initiated at the meeting of the city council last night when action was taken on a petition asking for an annexation of territory to the north. The petitioners are J. A. Smiley, Mrs. K. A. Skiles, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Courtney, Emma M. Hill and Nellie Young. The annexation election was set for April 18, with the polling booth at the home of J. A. Smiley. Mrs. Young and Mrs. Hill were named as judges and Mrs. Skiles as inspector. The polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m.

The west boundary line of the district starts at the north city limits at a point 150 feet west of Flower street and runs north to connect with the west line of the Southern Pacific right of way at West Orange; follows the right of way to a point where it intersects the street leading into the county hospital, which is an extension of Chapman street across the Southern Pacific tracks; thence east to a point 170 feet east of the east line of the railway right of way; thence in a southeasterly direction to the city limits, the line being located immediately north of Santiago creek.

The big program is being initiated by the city council to provide a direct route into Santa Ana from the point where the state

UNIVERSITY GETS $185,000 IN CASH

SACRAMENTO, March 19.—(UP)—Stanford university's claim for $209,000, owed by the state of California for the purchase in 1916 of 3800 acres of land for the Durham state settlement project, was settled in full today through payment of $185,000 in cash, the state department of agriculture announced here.

An appropriation bill making the cash payment possible was passed by the state legislature as an emergency measure in January.

British Rubber Magnate Denies Low Price Near

LONDON, March 19.—(UP)—J. S. M. Rennie, noted British rubber plantation authority, does not share the opinion recently expressed by H. Stewart Hotchkiss, U. S. Rubber company official, that the price of rubber soon will be lower, according to the London Evening Standard.

Rennie, a director of the Malaya Rubber Investment corporation, said that but-grafted rubber—to which Hotchkiss attributed the impending fall in prices—will not have any undue effect on the market for at least a decade, owing, he said, to the "insignificance" of the state planted.

$600,000 HOTEL SOON TO BE CONSTRUCTED AT DANA POINT

Construction of a $600,000 hotel and grounds at Dana Point, in the north Italian style of architecture, will start in 60 days and will be completed six months later, S. H. Woodruff, Dana Point subdivision, announced today.

The architect, Charles M. Hutchinson, Los Angeles, has completed plans for the hotel, the site has been selected and plans for actual construction are being rushed so that the structure will get under way in 60 days, Woodruff said. The Western Construction company has been awarded the contract.

THAW JURY UNABLE TO REACH VERDICT

NEW YORK, March 19.—(UP)—The jury disagreed in the $110,000 damage suit brought against Harry K. Thaw by Miss Marcia Estardus, professional entertainer, according to a sealed verdict opened today by Supreme Court Justice Peter Schmuck.

The jury was discharged last night after it returned its sealed decision. The decision that an agreement was impossible was reached after three hours deliberation.

Justice Schmuck set the case for retrial in the May term. Miss Estardus wept.

The entertainer had charged that Thaw attacked her following a party January 1, 1927.

COL. LINDBERGH MAY FLY GIANT AIRPLANE

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—(UP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was visiting in Santa Barbara today having departed from Los Angeles with the vague promise that he would return in several days to make a test flight in the giant 20-passenger Keystone plane.

He left here after an inspection of airports. He said his stay at the Guggenheim estate in Santa Barbara was to be of indefinite length. He would not confirm the report that he was to fly the Patrician to San Francisco.

Eaker Flight Is Delayed By Muddy Field At Tampico

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Mar. 19.—(UP)—Capt. Ira C. Eaker, scheduled to arrive here this morning from Tampico on the last lap of his attempted dawn to dusk flight from France field, Panama, was unable to leave Tampico because of a muddy landing field, he informed International airport officials here by long distance telephone.

Captain Eaker did not disclose when he intends to leave Tampico, but officials are of the opinion that he will not attempt the flight until tomorrow.

Oil Man Receives $30,000,000 For Prairie Holdings

NEW YORK, March 19.—(UP)—Tom Slick, a mule driver who made good, has sold his interests to the Prairie Oil company for $30,000,000 in the largest transfer of oil-producing properties in recent years.

Slick has announced he will take a year's vacation and then go back into the oil business. He will leave soon for Europe and may tour the world.

Slick, who started out driving mules and dressing tools in the oil fields of southern Illinois, went to the Indian territory, where he became known as the greatest individual oil operator in the world. His first strike brought him $2,500,000.

Commander Byrd Prepares Search For Missing Men

NEW YORK, March 19.—(UP)—The New York Times and St. Louis Post-Dispatch announced today that Com. Richard E. Byrd was preparing to search for three members of his Antarctic expedition who were forced down on the ice while engaging in an aerial geologic trip.

Members of the party were Larry Gould, geologist and Bernt Balchen and Harold Gurnea, pilots. They had failed to report to the expedition headquarters since last Thursday. It was believed they were safe but Commander Byrd reported by wireless that, however remote the possibility that an accident might have occurred, he wished to discover what had befallen the missing men.

S. A. RESIDENT FOR 54 YEARS IS SUMMONED

Mrs. Sarah Jennie Thompson, wife of J. P. Thompson, died today in the family residence, 820 East Fourth street. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Smith and Tuthill chapel.

Mrs. Thompson is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Lela Matthews, of Colton, and Mrs. Carrie Sherrill, of Santa Ana; three sons, W. A. S. Thompson, Los Angeles, and Elmer F. and Joseph Thompson, of Santa Ana; one brother, James Torrens, of Santa Ana, and two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie McQuarters, Tilden, Ill., and Mrs. Mary Pendry, Patterson, Calif.

Mrs. Thompson was a pioneer of this city, having come here in 1875, from Illinois. She was identified with many of the activities of this community in the early days. It was her privilege to see Santa Ana and the Southland develop from a wilderness to the thriving sections they are today.

CITY PLANNING TO OPEN ROAD TO SANTA ANA

highway makes the turn onto Chapman street, just east of the county hospital. Completion of the highway program will virtually open up three direct routes into the city from the north, for it will be possible to distribute traffic to Flower street and Broadway. The boulevard will cross Flower street at West Orange, and Broadway will be extended across the tracks to connect with the avenue.

The program provides for construction of bridges across the Santa Ana river and Santiago creek. The highway will connect direct with El Portal, a short street connecting Main and Bush streets, and located just north of the Main street crossing of the Southern Pacific tracks. Distribution of traffic to Bush street will be easy. The East Santa Ana Improvement association, at its last meeting, started agitation for widening of Bush from First to Santa Clara avenue.

Opening of El Portal street to Chapman street will shorten the distance and time between Santa Ana and Los Angeles and points north and northwest. It was pointed out by councilmen. It is believed 75 to 80 per cent of the motor traffic to San Diego and points south will use this route instead of following the present route to Arana and thence south over Main street to Santa Ana or through Orange to other streets that lead south to the coast highway.

Councilman Stanley Goode is credited by his associates with suggesting to the city body that it make an effort to annex territory to the north that would make it possible for opening of a new highway direct into the city from the north. The councilman and other members of the city official family have been quietly at work on the project for two weeks.

"Opening of the new highway into Santa Ana will mark one of the most constructive pieces of work the city has done in a long time," Goode said today. "It will benefit the entire city and it is for this reason that we propose assessing the costs against all property."

type of settlers but also it is felt that the industry is of great value to the older established fruit industries. There are thousands of acres of hillside frostless lands which recently have been equipped with water. These lands would be planted to something in any event. In the absence of the avocado they might be planted to some of the citrus fruits in such large quantities as to seriously affect the present returns received by citrus growers.

The avocado industry is establishing itself beyond the experimental stage, Newman pointed out, but called attention to the fact that there is much to be done still along the line of standardization. "Owing to the fact that the avocado is known to comparatively few people in the United States, the sales problem is considerably more difficult than with the better known fruits," he said. "The Calavo Growers of California, with nearly 500 members, has been working diligently for nearly six years in an effort to educate the public to the merits of this new fruit. It also has had to work out methods of handling, grading, packing and innumerable details connected with the successful handling of any business."

A total of 99,000 miles of telephone wire were added to the Bell System in the state of Wisconsin during 1928. This brings the total mileage within the state up to 1,325,000 miles.

S. A. YOUTH WHO BROKE JAIL IN TEXAS NABBED

Eugene Watkins, 20, wanted here for violation of parole and who escaped from the city jail in El Paso, Texas, on March 3 while a deputy sheriff was enroute there to return him to Santa Ana, had been recaptured and is being held in Lake Charles, La., the sheriff's office announced today.

Watkins, a Santa Ana boy, was arrested in DeRidde, La., several days ago on a burglary charge when it was learned that he was wanted here. Officers probably will leave here within a few days to return him to Santa Ana.

Watkins was arrested in El Paso on February 26, with Lonnie Russ, also wanted here. Russ was returned here, as he is said to have refused to break jail with Watkins and several other men. The lock on the jail door was picked by another Santa Ana man, A. D. Carter, who happened to be in the El Paso jail at the same time, according to Harry Carter, deputy sheriff.

Carter is wanted here on a charge of breaking into the Southern Gas company postoffice box and removing several hundred dollars worth of checks, many of which he cashed. He has not been arrested.

Special Offer to Victims of Gas and Chronic Indigestion

C. S. Kelley says Pleasant to Take Elixir Must Help Poor Distressed Stomachs or Money Gladly Refunded.

You can be so distressed with gas and fullness that you think your heart is going to stop beating. Your stomach may be so distended that your breathing is short and gaspy.

You are dizzy and pray for quick relief—what's to be done? Just one tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha-Pepsin and in ten minutes the gas disappears, the pressing on the heart ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally.

Oh! What blessed relief; but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have chronic indigestion at all?

Especially when C. S. Kelley or any druggist anywhere guarantees Dare's Mentha-Pepsin, a pleasant elixir, to end indigestion, acute or chronic, or money back.

GRADY RAMSEY FACES THREE FELONY COUNTS

Bail of $15,000 was demanded of Grady Ramsey, 26, pipe fitter, of 1505 Pine street, Long Beach, when he and Leslie Magnuson, 27, also of Long Beach, were arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning as the men alleged to have attacked F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, last Saturday afternoon, beating him severely about the head.

Ramsey was charged with three felony counts and a misdemeanor. Complaints charging assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, robbery, operation of a whiskey still and escaping an officer, were filed against him.

Only one charge has been filed against Magnuson, that of operating a still. Other charges may be filed later, it was said. His bail was fixed at $5000. Neither man made bail.

The two men were arrested Sunday night, in Los Angeles. They are accused of beating Howard, after he had arrested them near Seal Beach, Saturday afternoon, a short time after Howard and several other deputy sheriffs had raided a still. Howard's arms were handcuffed behind him and his pistol taken by Ramsey, he reported, while Magnuson held him on the ground.

Rex Magnuson, a brother of Leslie, arrested at the time the still was confiscated, still is in the county jail, charged with operation of a still. He has not been arraigned.

Leslie Magnuson and Ramsey will be given preliminary hearings on the still charges on March 25. The other charges against Ramsey will be heard on March 26, Justice Morrison announced.

Mrs. E. Morrison today was exhibiting a seedless grapefruit, measuring 15 inches in circumference. The fruit was grown at her home, 1241 West Third street. While not asserting that the fruit is the "largest ever," Mrs. Morrison does believe that the product will compare favorably with that of any other in point of symmetry and smoothness.

Seven members of the sales staff of The Howard company, Orange county distributors of Frigidair, headed by Ashleigh Chamberlain, sales supervisors, returned yesterday from San Francisco where they attended the Pacific coast regional convention of the Frigidair corporation last week. The convention was attended by nearly 1500 dealers, salesmen and officials. It was held in the civic auditorium and closed with a banquet at which more than 1500 plates were laid.

Members of the city council and other officials of the city will attend a meeting, tonight, of the Midway City Chamber of Commerce for discussion of plans for extending First street from Huntington Beach boulevard west to the Seal Beach boulevard. The council has been invited to attend the meeting.

Eighteen 4-H club boys and leaders met last night in the farm advisor's offices here under the direction of E. E. Eastman for instruction in poultry producing methods. Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory and Will Hatch, Tustin poultry expert, discussed poultry problems.

Services will be held from the Winbigler Funeral home, Thursday, March 21, at 2 p. m. followed by interment in the Fairhaven cemetery. She is survived by two sons, Walter and Edwin and three daughters, Julia, Gladys and Edna, all of this city.

FLIES FROM SAN DIEGO TO LOS ANGELES FOR CLASSES

The air age has arrived, it appeared today. Also a new record has been set, it is believed, in distance travelled by a student going to and from school.

When R. H. Drake, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the Santa Ana board of education, opened his course in building and property management last night in the University college, in Los Angeles, he naturally wanted to find out who his students were and where they came from. Everything was normal until he came to F. M. Nichols, who said he resided in San Diego.

"How did you get here?" asked Drake in some surprise.

"I just flew in," remarked Nichols. "I wanted to get this course and I decided I was going to take it if I had to pursue my education in the air."

When the class was over, Nichols told Drake he was a little pressed for time and would have to be getting started home. He probably arrived in San Diego and may have been sleeping calmly long before Drake, travelling on the ground, reached Santa Ana. But then Drake wasn't pursuing an education.

60 LEADERS IN CHURCH WORK AT CONFERENCE

With an attendance of 60 men and women representing most of the churches of the city, a successful meeting of young people's leaders was held last night at the Y. M. C. A., under the auspices of the Church Co-operative Boy Life committee. Representatives of the Y. M. C. A. also were present.

Dinner was followed by a program, led by Ed Miller, with Halstead McCormac at the piano; violin solo by Emaleena Richards, accompanied by Imogene McCaulley, and Scotch and Irish ballads, by Mrs. Sally Chaffee, accompanied by McCormac.

The topic, "The Most Important Thing in Work with Youth," was dealt with by Miss Nancy Elder, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A.; Russell Lutes, representative of the First Methodist church; the Rev. S. Edgar, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church; T. P. McKee, boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Clifford L. Chaffee, chairman of the boy life committee.

The latter part of the evening was spent in group conferences, the wives under direction of Ralph Smedley, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and Miss Elder; the Y. W. C. A. leaders under direction of Miss Dorothy Cartwright, and the men under direction of McKee.

The following churches were represented: First Christian, First Methodist, South Methodist, First Presbyterian, First Baptist, First Congregational, United Presbyterian, Evangelical, Richland Avenue Methodist, Lutheran, Reformed Presbyterian and United Brethren.

VIADUCT FINANCING WILL BE DISCUSSED

Possibility of a co-operative financing plan for the proposed $200,000 viaduct at the Arches, near Newport Beach, participated in by that city, Orange county and the state, will be discussed at a meeting on April 5, to which officials of the three groups have been invited, it was learned today.

George Macleod, secretary of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, appeared today before the board of supervisors to inform it of the meeting at which it is expected that some tentative plan for financing the project may be outlined and engineering aspects of the scheme discussed.

The viaduct, it is pointed out, would eliminate possible traffic difficulties at the Arches, where Newport road crosses the state highway.

CONDEMNATION APPRAISAL IS CRUX OF SUIT

Protests of Anton Monsur, Dorothée Burdorf and others to the referee's appraisal of damages for property on Lemon street, Anaheim and Fullerton, which recently was extended and widened, were being heard today in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

The protesters claim that the property used in the road project is worth several thousand dollars more than the referee's appraisal. The Monsur claim, as evidenced in court today, would place the value of his property and buildings at approximately $4800, while the referee's estimate was approximately $1500.

There are three property owners who are expected to contest the appraisal, including Monsur and Dorothée Burdorf. The total value of the property on Lemon street, condemned under the Matton act, was placed at approximately $28,000 in the referee's report.

Ten automobiles were destroyed when the E. H. Stafford garage, in Stanton, was burned Sunday night. Lack of water handicapped the crowd of citizens attracted to the blaze, and beyond a few pieces of furniture in the living quarters in the garage, nothing was saved.

Four dwellings adjoining the garage were saved.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The garage building and fixtures were valued at $4000, but were insured for only $1000, it is said. The automobiles were valued at approximately $7500.

Of owners to remedy noise ills—In one case the interference detector was taken to a certain neighborhood in the south part of town, where a great deal of noise had been reported, but after the trouble had been traced down and located in an old-type battery charger. The technicians had done all they were empowered to do—The owner of the charger refused to spend a few cents to remedy the apparatus, even after one of the radio men had offered to do the work. For nothing if the parts were furnished—The owner of the charger declared that the machine didn't bother him because when it was in operation he wasn't using his radio anyway—He has absolutely no regard for his neighbors or the joy and entertainment they are entitled to receive from their radios—This is only one of several instances in which the dealers have been balked in their efforts to clear up noise sources and it appears, therefore, that a nice, new city ordinance—one with teeth in it—giving the dealers power to force owners of interference machines to co-operate, is something for which all of us would offer our sincere thanks.

DON BARCLAY, COMEDIAN, TO BROADCAST FUN

The "Be Kind to Apples Week club" of Tweedleville, Mo., and a mammy song sent Jeremy Scott from the center of the spinach industry to Broadway. There he puts over his song and wins the gal.

How it all happened is a riotous tale of nonsense to be broadcast on the Eveready hour over the NBC and KFI at 6 o'clock tonight in a complete musical revue. Don Barclay, former star of the Zeigfeld Follies, will be the principal.

The furnace in the town hall of Tweedleville had been wanting a new grate for high on to four years. But when the "Be Kind to Apples Week club" met to raise the funds the meeting was stampeded in behalf of the town mammy song singer. The question arises whether the town hall will get a new furnace or whether Tweedleville will be put on the map by sending Jeremy Scott to New York to get his songs published. Jeremy gets the decision and the money and the town hall is cold for another four years.

It's good things happened this way, because Jeremy was getting desperate. He was going to sell the old cow to get to New York. But the cow was so thin her sale would have only got him to Chicago. Then what do you suppose happens? Why, Helen Gordon, his big nut and bolt man's lovely daughter, blows into Tweedleville in her Hispano Rolls and tells Jeremy she always was sweet on him anyway and if he'll just become famous on Broadway, well, you know.

Jeremy hits the Gay White Way like a plunging halfback only to be thrown for a loss. All isn't so easy amongst them city slickers. His mammy song was a world beater in Tweedleville, but it's just another mammy song around Times Square. Jeremy was obstinate. He knows his song is good. Then the beautiful Helen Gordon steps in again and lifts him over a hurdle. She knows a big producer who will try it if he can jazz up the time and make it a snappy fox trot. Jeremy has to give in. Is the song a hit? Dunt esk! They go wild about it. The curtain drops with Helen and Jeremy in a real lovers' knot.

EXPECT 300 TO ENTER S. A. SCHOOL MEET

GETTING IN CONDITION WITH THE PITTSBURGH PIRATES AND THE NEW YORK YANKEES

It is said that those flippers of Herb Pennock and Wilcey Moore will function as efficiently as ever this season. And that young Henry Johnson looks swell, and Eddie Wells is due to stick in the American league this time. Well, all this is true about these four last season, but say they are in great shape now. Johnson, with the experience gained last season, should be much better this year. Wells, a failure with Detroit and Washington, seems ready to stick in the majors this trip. Pennock and Moore are the ones the Yankees hope will be in condition to do their stuff this year. When in good shape, there is no better southpaw in baseball than Pennock. And Moore works most efficiently in relief roles.

From the training base of the Pittsburgh Pirates in California comes news that the Pirates will present an altered infield and two new pitching faces in the coming National league pennant chase. Jess Petty and Steve Swetonic are the new hurlers, Petty having been acquired from Brooklyn in a trade during the winter, and Swetonic having been bought from Indianapolis. With "Pie" Traynor, a five and a half furlong stake race exclusively for two-year-olds. The Au Revoir Handicap, annual closing handicap at Tijuana, will also be decided March 31. The present meeting of the Tijuana Jockey club will go into the records as being the longest continuous racing session held this year on the American continent. Purses distributed to horsemen will total more than $1,500,000.

12 ELEMENTARY TEAMS IN CITY MEET

Fully 300 young athletes from Santa Ana's 12 public grade institutions will compete in the first annual elementary school city track and field meet April 13, Walter L. Scott, supervisor of physical education and director of the competition, estimated today.

Boys from Jefferson, Lincoln, John Muir, Grand avenue, Artesia, Franklin, McKinley, Roosevelt, Lowell, Spurgeon, Edison and Delhi schools will be entered. The meet will be held on the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school track.

Originally scheduled for March 30 the date of the affair was moved back two weeks at a meeting of representatives last night so that it falls after spring vacation which begins April 1.

Competition will be conducted in four different divisions, Scott announced. Championships will be determined in five sections — mid-junior, senior, limited and the winner of the grand total. Few schools will have complete teams in the unlimited division so points will be counted only in the mid-junior, junior and senior classes. A total of 12 teams will decide the city championship.

Walter Scott

Following are the events listed for each section:

- Mid-junior—40 yard dash, high jump, broad jump, soccer throw and relay.
- Junior—50 yard dash, high jump, broad jump, soccer throw and relay.
- Senior—60 yard dash, high jump, broad jump, soccer throw and relay.
- Unlimited—75 yard dash, high jump, broad jump, soccer throw and relay.

Five points will count for a first place, four for second, three for third, two for fourth and one for fifth. Each school will be limited to one entry in each class of the high jump, two in the broad jump and soccer throw and three in each dash.

ANGELS OPPOSE PORTLAND HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Although they will remain in camp here less than one more week, Portland's Beavers still have one more exhibition game on their schedule at the Orange County Fair grounds after today's "big shot" with the Detroit Tigers. Marty Krug's first string Los Angeles Angels will come here tomorrow afternoon, Seattle Thursday, Saturday and Sunday and then, for a grand and glorious finale, the Pittsburgh Pirates on Monday, March 25. The Beavers break camp that night for San Francisco where the following day they are slated to open their Pacific Coast league season against the Seals.

Los Angeles made an effort to cancel tomorrow's combat, pleading a fear that the rough spots in the outfield at the Fair grounds might result in injury to its outfielders but Roy Mack, secretary of the Beavers, stuck with his runs and demanded that the Angels fulfill their part of the contract to show here.

If the Angels refuse to come it is probable that Seattle, which has no game on its schedule tomorrow, will agree to come up from its camp at San Clemente to fill the date.

While no definite starting time has been announced yet it is understood that the Portland-Pittsburgh imbroglio will begin shortly after 1 o'clock in order that the Pirates can make train connections for the east. The National leaguers will stop here en route home and the starting time will be made to suit their convenience.

ISSUE 45 SUITS TO SAINT FOOTBALLERS

Coach "Tex" Oliver issued 45 football outfits to aspiring football players yesterday for the first practice of the spring football season at Santa Ana high school.

Only three lettermen were in suit. Captain Bruce Tarver, Harold Pangle and Clarence Spear were the veterans who donned the noisemakers. These three players had charge of the workout which consisted of warming up exercises, picking up the ball, passing, kicking and punting. Walter Wilson, assistant football manager last year, is in charge this term.

The juniors have the most players and are favored to win the big interschool tournament which will come in five or six weeks. The entire spring season will last two and one-half months, closing about the first of June.

Miller, Mandell Sign For Dempsey

NEW YORK, March 19.—Jack Dempsey has signed the principals from his first lone trip into the fight promotion world.

The former champion last night announced the signing of Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, and Ray Miller, Chicago, for a title bout next June. The bout probably will be held in Detroit.

Lloyd Waner In Buc Fold; Paul Still Out

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—Believed to have received less than the $15,000 he asked, Lloyd Waner, star young outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has signed his 1929 contract after having been listed as a holdout for several weeks. It was said Waner received approximately $10,000.

Lloyd's brother, Paul, one of the best outfielders in the National league, still is unsigned.

STARS REMAIN AS MEMBER OF COUNTY LEAGUE

Santa Ana will retain its franchise in the Orange County Night Baseball league and the Stars, champions of Southern California, will play familiar foes every Friday this summer, according to indications today.

Long Beach, Riverside, Arlington and other localities which were to have made up a new major league feel that the project is premature and still at least a year away and Santa Ana is expected to reluctantly fall in line.

Directors of the Orange County league held up action on plans for the coming season at their recent meeting until Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton determined what they intended to do.

With the collapse of the major league it is virtually certain that the county circuit will function again with Santa Ana and Anaheim fighting out their annual championship battle and Olive, Orange, Fullerton, Garden Grove and Huntington Beach trying to stem the tide. San Clemente or the Newport Harbor district is expected to take over the franchise resigned in the middle of the stream last summer by La Habra.

NURMI TO GUN FOR NEW MILE RECORD

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—Paavo Nurmi, Finland's famous son, who is said to have displayed his record-breaking performances before more spectators than any other runner in the world, will make a new effort at the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday.

Challenged by Nick Carter, the speed demon of the Los Angeles Athletic club, Nurmi will make an assault on his own world's record of 4 minutes, 10.2 seconds, in a special one-mile race.

Carter boasts a fine record in the mile, having defeated Edwin Wide, the Swedish star, here two years ago. He believes he can defeat Nurmi.

Joe Dugan Begins Work With Braves

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19.—With Joe Dugan in uniform, officials of the Boston Braves hope to have his name on a 1929 contract within a few days. Dugan arrived yesterday and started working out.

Charley Ruffing, star Red Sox hurler, worked 230 pounds when he reported this season. This was far in excess of his playing weight.

CHAFFEY MEET NEXT ON SAINT TRACK PROGRAM

Stripped of its Southern Counties meet title by a fraction of a point but still a factor to be considered in impending track and field skirmishes, Coach "Tex" Oliver's Santa Ana high school squad is hard at work for the Chaffey Invitational at Ontario next Saturday when Saint athletes will defend a championship held for the last two years.

Twenty-five high schools in five Southern California counties have been invited to participate in this affair and Manager E. W. Fischer expects a entry list close to 400.

The ringleaders will be substantially the same as those that competed at Huntington Beach last Saturday except for San Diego which, because of its larger enrollment, has not been tendered an invitation. Absence of the Hilltoppers is expected to pave the way for Santa Ana's third straight triumph although Oliver's group may expect some stern resistance from Pomona, which was not represented at Huntington Beach, and perhaps from a school or two out of Imperial valley.

Pomona will be dangerous as the Cardinals have a splendid hurdler and broad jumper in Keough, who is strongest in Santa Ana's strong events and may cut down the local point quota. Keough beat both Al Rebohn and John Moffatt, ace hurdlers, at Chaffey last year and will press Rebohn this season although the husky little football star is running much better now than he was in 1928.

Four cups, 10 statuettes and 80 medals will be awarded by Ontario merchants. Eugene Nixon, Pomona coach, has accepted an invitation to serve as starter and J. C. Reinhard, manager of track in the C. I. F., will be heard judge.

HOLES TEE SHOT

Van Pomeroy, 18, became the youngest member of Santa Ana's Hole-in-One colony when he sunk his tee shot on the 114-yard No. 2 hole at the Country club yesterday.

Van Pomeroy, 18, shoots ace at golf club.

Santa Ana's Hole-in-One club received the newest and youngest member of all into the ranks today. He was Van Pomeroy, 18-year-old high school lad, who holed his shot from the tee of Hole No. 2 at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday while golfing with Carl C. Thrasher, Vic Baird, Milo Ainsworth and Dwight Ainsworth. Pomeroy has been playing golf only three years.

Pomeroy's ace, made with a mashie, was witnessed by all of his four companions and therefore becomes official under the regulations of the National Hole-in-One club.

Van started his round impressively, negotiating the lengthy No. 1 in a birdie four, but he hardly was prepared for the shock when he pitched perfectly to the green on the 114-yard No. 2 and saw his ball bounce once and then twice straight into the cup.

Pomeroy's ace was the eleventh recorded in the history of the Santa Ana Country club. Other hole-in-one makers are G. B. Shattuck, Z. B. West Jr., A. W. Rutan, C. E. Parker, M. B. Lacy, Miss Enid Twist, Roland E. Dye, Paul Williams, Warren Fletcher and J. S. Warner.

TWO NICE FELLOWS

Walter Johnson and Billy Southworth are regarded by the major league ball players as two of the swiftest fellows in the business and because of their nice, easy-going dispositions a lot of experts think that neither will succeed as a major league manager.

Johnson is having his first trial as the manager of the Washington Senators and Southworth is making his debut as the manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Because of the affection that Washington has for Johnson his spot is much earlier than the one into which Southworth has fallen. If Johnson fails to win a pennant there will be no dire penalty put on him. His Washington club doesn't stand as a pennant winner and even if Walter doesn't finish the club higher than it finished last year they will love him just the same in Washington.

JUST A TOUGH SPOT

But Southworth is in a much more critical position. He is as

Segrave Out For Speedboat Record

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 19.—The attempt of Major H. O. D. Segrave to bring back to England the speedboat record as well as the race car record, which he set at Daytona last week, brought the British pilot out on Biscayne bay again today. He planned to give Miss England, the British built boat, another try out before tomorrow's race.

Segrave will race Gar Wood, owner and pilot of Miss America VII, that set the present world's speed boat record of 92.835 miles an hour. The attempt to set a new world's record will be the leading event of the annual Biscayne bay regatta.

Tijuana Racing Season To Close March 31

TIJUANA, Mexico, March 19.—The meeting of the Tijuana Jockey club now in progress here will come to a close Sunday, March 31, James Wood Coffroth, president, announced today. This is the one hundred seventh day of racing. Closing day will be marked by the running of the rich Tijuana Futurity, a five and a half furlong stake race exclusively for two-year-olds. The Au Revoir Handicap, annual closing handicap at Tijuana, will also be decided March 31.

The present meeting of the Tijuana Jockey club will go into the records as being the longest continuous racing session held this year on the American continent. Purses distributed to horsemen will total more than $1,500,000.

S. A. BASEBALL TEAM TO PLAY WILSON. TUSTIN

With two practice games scheduled, Santa Ana high school's baseballers will have a busy time this week. Woodrow Wilson of Long Beach will visit the locals Thursday and the Saints travel to Tustin Friday.

Tustin was conquered last week, 14 to 4, but Coach Bill Foote of the Farmers didn't use his strongest team against the Saints. A real game will be on tap Friday. Woodrow Wilson already has lost two games to Anaheim but played without the services of its first string pitcher both times.

Coach Bill Foote is opposed to announcing starting lineups this early in the season but several boys have nearly clinched their jobs. Captain Curt Xouel will pitch first base and "Red" Sullivan is sure to be on the second bag. Behind the plate Wayne Vance will don the mask and protector.

John Willcutt, first string chucker last season, is sure to get the call in the important contests although Marvin Johnston, a fly-hawk in 1928, will do a little southpaw flinging also.

Jimmy Hall, veteran third sacker, is reasonably certain of his post. Paul Wright looks good at shortstop although Bob Beaver and Al Rebohn, now busy on the track, are also promising candidates.

Wright, Rebohn and Beaver are all rated good stickers.

In the outfield, Coach Foote has a flock of men he can use. Johnston will roam in left when he isn't pitching and Dallas Reichstein will put in some spare time in right. Marvin Meyers is a likely lad for center although many others have an equal chance. Jack McFadden is team manager.

MICKEY WALKER NEARING SCRAP FOR NEW TITLE

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, March 19.—Already having held two titles, Mickey Walker next week will go after the honor which has defied boxers since the days of old Bob Fitzsimmons—the possession of a third ring championship.

Mickey hopes to add the lightweight title to this trophies by whipping Champion Tommy Loughran here March 23. He already has held the welterweight championship and is the present middleweight champion.

To take a place along side Fitzsimmons as a three-time man, Walker must surmount a difficult obstacle when he meets Loughran. Tommy doubtless is the best man in his class and since Walker appears to be the best of the middleweights the bout seems to be the old story of a good little man against a good big man.

Will Weigh About 164

Walker probably will scale around 164 pounds, while Loughran will be within a pound of the 175-pound light-heavyweight limit. Mickey hopes to overcome this disadvantage with speed but Loughran himself is anything but slow. Both can hit—Walker several times has demonstrated he is a one-punch knockout man, notably in his bout with Mike McTigue. Mickey hit Mike just one punch on the jaw as the fight opened, and the Irishman was out for several minutes.

Walker reached the middleweight heights after a stormy career. He beat Jack Britton for the welterweight title back in 1922 and for four years was the class of the welters. Then he lost to Pete Latza in Scranton, Pa., despite his being an odds-on favorite.

There were some hints which attributed Mickey's defeat to California "night life" but he that it may Walker came back a few months later as a middleweight and immediately became a title contender. He climaxed his midweight efforts by beating Tiger Flowers for the championship.

Although there are some who still contend that Flowers won by a mile Mickey proved in the fight that he can take it and the ability to take it may be a prime asset in the Loughran fight.

Another advantage Mickey will have is the sagacity of Jack Kearns, one of the shrewdest managers in the country and as good a "corner man" as there is in the game.

It has been Kearns' dream to develop Mickey into a heavyweight champion, but the latter so far, has not put on enough weight for that.

VOLLEYBALL LEAGUE PLAY BEGUN AT 'Y'

The spring schedule of the Y. M. C. A. Volleyball league was initiated last night when two teams of heavy hitters went into action in the first games of the season.

Team No. 1, headed by Bill Taylor, won one game, and Team No. 2, with Warren Fletcher as its captain, took two games out of the series of three.

Tomorrow night, the teams led by Dr. G. E. Reitt and Dr. Frank Ashmore will contend, and on Friday Coleman Hickey's group will meet the Taylor aggregation.

Sees Passage Of School Measure

NEWPORT BEACH, March 19.—Secretary Macleod of the chamber of commerce was home over the week end and reported that the outlook for the passing of the school bill seems favorable. Macleod returned to Sacramento to assist in answering questions about the harbor bill, which will be reported out of committee soon.

The possible objection to the legality of the measure on the grounds of using the boundaries of the county as the boundaries of the district, when bonds are to be voted by any majority under two-thirds, voiced by H. C. Head, of Santa Ana, will be given careful consideration, and if thought advisable, the line will be changed, Macleod said. The reason advanced by Head was that the state laws stipulated that all bond issues of the county must be carried by a two-thirds majority.

ORANGE, March 19.—Frequent meetings are being planned by a group of World war veterans who were entertaining Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Wegner, 143 South Waverly street. All of the veterans present are either blind, or partially so, or have been blind and have recovered their sight. The meeting was the fourth to be held by the group, the first one of which was held last summer at Beaumont.

The men were all patients in the same hospital in France and later met at an army hospital in Baltimore. This hospital is now the Evergreen School for the Blind. An interesting feature of the reunion of the veterans was the presence of Miss Lillie Weil, of Los Angeles, who nursed them in the war torn days 10 years ago.

The host, who is totally blind from the explosion of a shell, became a chicken rancher in New Jersey, making a great success of his venture in spite of his handicap and the fact that one hand had been shattered by shrapnel.

HOW TO END CONSTIPATION
If you want to get rid of constipation for good, you must cleanse the liver of its stored-up bile, and set it to working right. Remember it's a torpid, lazy liver clogged with bile that keeps you constipated. This surplus bile poisons your whole system, causing headaches, bad breath, salivary skin, sour stomach, gas, indigestion, dizzy spells or other disagreeable symptoms.

All that any ordinary physio does is to force a bowel movement without getting at the liver. What you really need is a thorough internal cleansing with Plantax, which brings out all the accumulated bile and other foul secretions.

Plantax is a most effective liver tonic compounded from the juices or extracts of harmless plants—remedies from Nature's own laboratory. It acts in a gentle, easy way—no irritation or weakening of the organs. Large bottle $1. On sale at all good drug stores. Always in stock at White Cross Pharmacy.—Adv.

POLICE SEEKING THREE CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Search for three Mexicans, who are asserted to have threatened to kill another Mexican and throw his body into the ocean, had started here today with the filing of a complaint against the three by Jose Serrano, 21, of Sunset Beach.

Complaints charging assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill have been filed against the three, whose names have not been disclosed.

According to the story told district attorney's officers by Serrano, he was in the Pacific Electric camp in Sunset Beach several night ago, when three Mexicans came in, stated they were officers and placed him under arrest. They took him away in an automobile, beat him about the head with an iron bar, severely injuring him, and threatened to kill him, he said.

The prisoner was driven to Long Beach, where a traffic officer stopped the car he said. Serrano, unable to speak English, did not understand the conversation, he said, but soon the officer took charge of him and allowed the three men to get away.

Serrano is of the opinion that the three men, who could speak English, reported to the officer that their "friend" had been hurt in an accident and that they were caring for him. He returned to the construction camp the next morning, he declared.

Serrano knows his alleged abductors and was able to give officers good descriptions, they reported.

Officer Swimme kicked the case. It collapsed. So did Officer Swimme when 200 alligators crawled out.

SYCAMORE AND FOURTH WILL HAVE SIGNALS

Motorists who have been jamming Sycamore street at Fourth in their effort to avoid the traffic signals on Fourth at Broadway and Main soon will have to move over to another street, for the city council last night directed City Manager W. G. Knox to install signals at Sycamore and Fourth at the earliest date possible. The installation will cost approximately $1600.

It was pointed out in discussions that traffic on Sycamore had become so heavy that confusion frequently resulted at the intersection of Fourth, with attendant danger and discomfort to pedestrians. Comment was made that the heavy traffic on the street is the result of motorists driving there to avoid the controls at Broadway and Main.

Necessity of signal control at First and Main was admitted, but the city solons decided not to make an installation until the widening program on East First has been completed. The thoroughfare is to be widened between Main and San Joaquin. Installation of semaphores on West First street at Sycamore and Broadway was mentioned as a possibility of the immediate future.

Councilman Stanley Goode, Homer Chaney and W. J. Kelly were appointed a committee to investigate the application of Thomas Richards for permission to construct a combination dwelling and warehouse on Artesia street, near Chestnut. Richards operates a freight truck line and it was the understanding at the meeting that he wants to locate a warehouse and distributing station at the point named.

On petition of the First National bank, as trustee of the Greenwald estate, the council granted an extension of five years for the opening of Walnut street through the Greenwald tract at the corner of First and Bristol streets.

Mrs. Clara Haycock, 730 South Garnsey, requested cancellation of the second half of taxes on property she owns at 945 West Walnut. The amount that will be due next month is $40. Reasons for her petitioning the council should cancel the tax charge were not given in a communication written by Mrs. Haycock. The communication was referred to the city manager.

City Clerk Vegely was directed to wire today to Senator N. T. Edwards and Assemblyman Ted Craig the council's opposition to a bill introduced in the legislature relieving railroads from assessments for improvements made in districts in which rights-of-way are involved.

O. F. Rutledge was denied permission to erect an orange juice stand at 525 West Seventeenth because construction material does not meet the building code requirements.

CHINA TROUBLE IS EXPLAINED BY VIOLA HILL

Aptly likening the Occident's attempts to understand the various civil and military influences that are disrupting China to a cartoon which she recently saw of a Chinese juggler attempting to keep seven balls in the air at once by the use of his feet, Miss Viola Hill, missionary to China, now on a furlough in the United States, yesterday clarified some of the situations in that country for the benefit of the Business and Professional Women's club, meeting at St. Ann's Inn.

Miss Hill brought out, among other interesting points, the changes wrought in China by the application of the spoken language forms to the printing field, since one reason for the abysmal ignorance of the people was that books formerly were printed in the symbols familiar only to scholars and the aristocracy. She cited also the beginning of the student movement in 1919, when revolt against the militarists, corrupt officials and the two forms of government in each province, the civil and military, contributed to the general uprising.

The effects of western education were beginning to be felt in these provinces and Miss Hill stated that graduates of the University of California, Harvard, Oberlin college and similar institutions of the United States were coming to the fore as leaders and doing their part in restoring order.

Another interesting phase of the talk was the speaker's discussion of the elastic money standards of the country and the constantly changing rate of exchange that proved such a puzzle to foreigners. She closed her enlightening talk by asking for a more tolerant attitude toward China and the Chinese, declaring that "it is toward America of all the nations of the western world that new China is looking, and if we can approach her as a big brother to offer our aid and understanding it will result in incalculable good."

KEEP TOYS ON SHELVES

Shelves for toys are much better than a toybox for the nursery. Playthings in a toybox are apt to be thrown in carelessly, and the result is an untidy, mixed jumble that children simply toss out, when seeking a particular toy. Shelves, on the other hand, keep playthings in plain view, are easy for the children to keep in order, and enable a child to find a favorite toy quickly and easily.

TAKES OVER STORE

Walter Swanberger, who has purchased the Spencer Collins Men's shop and will operate it in the future under the name of Swanberger's Men's shop. Swanberger for the last six years has been in charge of the clothing department in the Santa Ana store of Hill and Carden.

EXPERTS BACK TO COMPLETE WATER REPORT

The consulting board of three engineers selected by the board of supervisors to assist Paul Bailey, flood control engineer, in final stages of his investigations on the Santa Ana river, had arrived in Santa Ana today for completion of their review of plans so far drafted.

A. J. Wiley, Boise, Ida., Charles H. Paul, Dayton, O., and F. C. Herrmann, San Francisco, compose the group and are expected to be in this city for two or three weeks in winding up their activities in connection with the water conservation and flood control project. This group was here several weeks ago for preliminary review of the project.

After their review has been completed, it is expected that the flood control report will be placed informally before the board of supervisors and citizens' advisory committee. During the next few weeks the supervisors, the advisory committee and a group of five engineers representing the Orange County Engineers' association, will hold conferences with Bailey on the subject of flood control and water conservation.

NEW OWNER IN CLOTHING GAME OVER 15 YEARS

Walter Swanberger, one of the most popular clothing salesmen in Santa Ana, today had taken over ownership and operation of the Spencer Collins Men's shop, at 295 West Fourth street.

In the future the store will be known as Swanberger's Men's shop.

Swanberger for the last six years has been identified with Hill and Carden and was in charge of the clothing department. He has been in the men's clothing business for more than 15 years and prior to affiliating with Hill and Carden was interested in the B. Solomon company, Inc., of El Centro.

Spencer Collins, who relinquishes ownership of the store bearing his name, has been in business in Santa Ana for seven years, four of which have been in the present location. Three years prior to moving to Fourth street, he conducted a store on North Main street. Collins will remain with Swanberger in the capacity of salesman and declares he will be pleased to meet his old friends and assures them the same cordiality they have received in the past.

In addition to Collins, Bud Hoyle will be retained on the staff as a salesman. Hoyle has been associated with Collins for a number of years.

According to Swanberger, the store will be entirely restocked with popular priced merchandise. Fashion Park clothes will be featured in addition to a full line of men's furnishings.

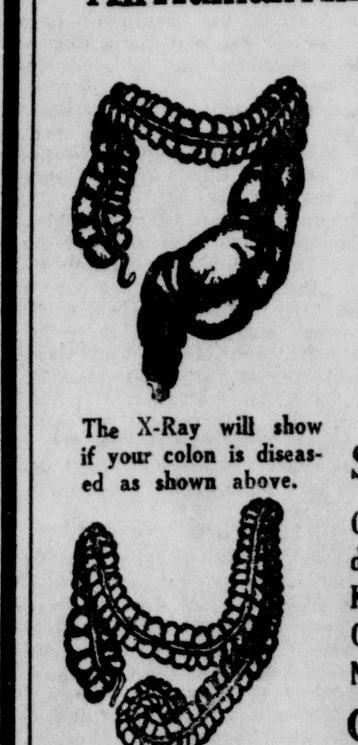

There will be no formal opening due to the change in management, but Walt, as he is familiarly known to his hundreds of friends, declares he will be glad to see all the friends he has made in the many years he has been engaged in the clothing business in Santa Ana, and hopes to make many new ones in his latest endeavor.

"Style is the most important factor in the men's clothing business today," said Swanberger this morning, "and realizing this, I will purchase new goods every 30 days instead of the old method of stocking every six months. I have spent many years in this business and hope to have the best and most up-to-date store of its kind in Orange county."

"The Terrible Meek"

Is Presented By Mrs. Smith

One of the most dramatic of plays centering about the crucifixion, "The Terrible Meek," by Charles Hann Kennedy, was read yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Smith at a luncheon meeting of Chapter AB, P. E. O., held at the beautiful home of Mrs. C. S. Crookshank at Lemon Heights.

Mrs. Smith, who is well known for the prominent part she takes in Community Players productions, read the three parts in the play, those of Mary, mother of Christ, a soldier, and his captain, in an unusually impressive manner.

The setting for the play is Calvary upon the night following the crucifixion of Christ and the characters, very human in their simplicity, are discussing the death of the Son of Man.

The play has to do with the slow conversion of the Captain, who as he talks to Mary, realizes for the first time the grandness of the mission of the man he had helped to crucify. As a vision of years to come, rich in a knowledge and love of Christ, appears before the captain, the true meaning of Christ's death bursts upon him.

Mrs. Smith pointed out that the play is frequently presented during Holy week as a fitting production for the Easter season.

Fragile blossoms of the Easter-tide were used in profusion about the Crookshank home and they made dainty bouquets for each of the tables where the guests were seated for luncheon.

S. W. Nau Paints Vivid Picture of Splendor Of Ancient Egypt

A picture of Egypt, one of the world's most fascinating countries, was painted in vivid fashion for members of the Second Travel section of Ebells society yesterday by S. W. Nau, who was a visitor in that country a year ago.

The section meeting was held at the Ebells clubhouse following a pretty luncheon served at the Jesse dining room on North Main street over which Mrs. J. R. Medlock, Mrs. Ida Tripp, and Mrs. M. Phillips presided as hostesses. The luncheon tables were gay with brightly colored flowers and place cards.

Mr. Nau opened his description of Egypt with the story of the ancient city of Alexandria, founded more than two thousand years ago by Alexander of Macedonia when he was master of the Mediterranean world.

An ancient light house stands in the harbor at Alexandria and in bygone days a fire was kept burning on the top as a beacon for sailors.

The party with which Mr. Nau visited Egypt made a trip up the Nile, past Cairo where the small boat on which they travelled stopped long enough for a visit to the three huge pyramids situated within a few miles of that city. According to the speaker, these huge monuments to the magnificence of past ages were very much as he had pictured them. They cover ten acres of ground and are five hundred feet high. He mentioned that originally the pyramids had been covered with alabaster but as centuries passed, the alabaster was either worn away by desert winds or stolen.

At Luxor a stop of several days was made while the party visited the Valley of the Kings where many of Egypt's pharaohs were buried many feet beneath the ground in order to discourage grave robbers who made it a practice to open the tombs in order to steal the valuable jewelry and household furniture that was buried in the tombs of members of the royal families.

Mr. Nau stated that the desert surrounding Luxor is very similar to the Mojave desert of California. Despite the fact that the speaker had visited nearly every country in the world, he announced that he is most anxious to return to Egypt where, in the fertile valley of the Nile, civilization was born.

The lounge at the clubhouse, where the meeting was held, had been especially decorated for the occasion with quantities of wild lilac and iris.

Santa Anans to Attend Rosa Ponselle Concert In Los Angeles

Many Santa Ana music-lovers are looking forward to a recital program to be presented at Los Angeles Philharmonic auditorium, Thursday evening, by Rosa Ponselle, dramatic soprano, one of the best-known artists on the American concert stage.

Ample proof of Miss Ponselle's great popularity is shown in the fact that every possible date is always taken in her coast-to-coast concert tours, while when she sings at the opera, standing room is always at a premium.

Of romantic interest is the fact that Miss Ponselle began her spectacular career as a vaudeville singer, rising through her own merits to the enviable position of a leading star of Metropolitan Opera company.

For Thursday night, Miss Ponselle has programmed the following numbers: Arie, "Me Pellesino" from "La Forza del Destino" (Verdi); "Quel Rusculetto" (Paradise); "Gretchen am Spinnrad" (Schubert); "Les Filles de Cadix" (Delibes); Arie, "Casta Diva" from "Norma" (Bellini); "A Memory" (Ganz); "The Nightingale" (Stephens); "Cradle Song" (Brahms); "Come Unto These Yellow Sands" (La Forge).

Stuart Ross, pianist, will accompany Miss Ponselle, and will also present the following piano solos: "German Dance" (Beethoven); "Ballet Music from 'Rosamunde'" (Schubert-Hughes); "Spanish Dance" (Granados); and "Waltz, 'Vienna Woods'" (Strauss-Schutt).

Mischa Elman Declares He Will Not Dictate Daughter's Future

Interest in the Mischa Elman concert to be presented Friday night in the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Ebells society, was manifested yesterday morning by the long line of ticket holders waiting outside the Santa Ana Book store, to exchange their pasteboards for reserved seat tickets for the performance.

This interest is natural in an artist of such world-wide fame as Elman has achieved, and many compliments have been paid Mrs. F. E. Coulter, Ebells president, and her International Artists committee of which Miss Lula Minter is chairman, for their enterprise in securing one of such prominence in the cultural world.

Details of Mischa Elman's public life are familiar to practically everyone in the community—his obscure birth in a little Russian village, the amazing musical talent which was apparent at such an early age, the enthusiasm which that talent was trained and developed by Leopold Auer, and such successive stages which brought him to his present eminence.

But of Elman's private life, much less is familiar. His public is aware that he is today an American citizen with a charming American wife, but how many know that he has a cunning two-year-old baby daughter, little Nadia Elman, who is already reaching baby fingers for the famous Stradivarius violin from which her father brings chords of such amazing sweetness?

When questioned recently as to his plans for an artist career for his small daughter, Elman smiled. "I am planning nothing whatever for her," he replied. "I prefer that she does that which will give her the greatest happiness in the future, even should it bring her less material welfare."

"If she is an artist she will follow that artistic impulse and nothing that another, even one so close as her father, can do, either for or against the idea, will alter that will to create or interpret artistic beauty."

"The career of an artist has its drawbacks and its fascinations. It is a great strain to conquer the hearts and feelings of thousands of persons every time you play, and yet if the urge to do is present there is no happiness in doing anything else."

"I have known musicians, even very successful ones, who were unhappy because their talents lay in another field. So I will not make the mistake of arbitrarily setting my daughter about some special enterprise. If she is an artist she will follow her natural artistic impulse and will receive every aid I can give her, but I want it to be a truly undenialable artistic will."

If little Nadia Elman follows the lure of music, she will be the fourth in a line of Elmans who have fallen under its spell and given to the world the highest ideals of that noble muse. For her great-grandfather was a noted violinist in Russian provinces, and her grandfather, while he had to turn to cobbling in order to earn money to keep his little family together, had a deep appreciation and knowledge of musical values which played its part in moulding the budding talent of his famous son, Mischa Elman, father of the little Nadia.

Twenty-five Tables of Cards Are Enjoyed

Twenty-five tables of cards were enjoyed last night at the Knights of Columbus hall at the St. Patrick's party held there under the auspices of women of St. Ann's parish. Many lovely flowers in pastel tints made a delightful background for the table appointments that bespoke the Irish holiday.

Mrs. William Machabee was presented with a handsome gift that was offered as a special prize during the evening.

Other prizes were awarded N. Brock, B. Brock, Mrs. William Maag and Mrs. Urban Engelman, at bridge; Mr. and Mrs. J. Ryan, Mrs. Haas and J. Schneider, at five hundred; Miss Alpharetta Vardy and Charles Stock, at bunks.

During the supper hour a large cake that had been donated by Mrs. Herman Vardy was the subject of much admiring comment.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS CLUBS FRATERNAL FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

A Boston husband complained that his wife was losing most of her week's earnings in Saturday night poker parties with her married women friends. The poker-playing wife was dragged into court on a gambling charge, and she and her six friends fined $5 each.

Now if the husband was earning that poker money by the sweat of his brow, if he himself had no money for poker or anything else, his complaint might be justified. But note that he says "her earnings." Things have certainly come to a pretty pass when a husband can complain of what his wife does with "her earnings." Still, many a wife would and does complain about what a husband does with "his earnings." Goose and gander, I guess.

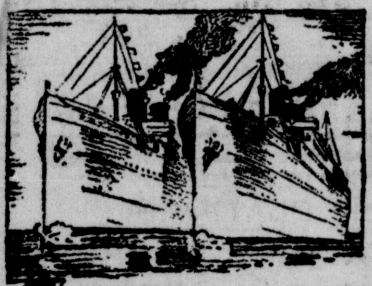

"MARRIAGE MARKET TOWNS"

There are 57 "marriage market towns" in 29 states, according to a Russell Sage Foundation report. A "marriage market town" is described as one which draws more than half its total marriages from outside its own license district. Most of such marriages were performed by J. P.'s who would do the plain job for $3 with an extra $3 thrown in if the license were "kept out of the paper." Ministers and J. P.'s were found splitting money with taxi drivers for bringing the couples to them. Well, what about it? The foundation neglects to cite the evils of this fact. It probably enables the bride below to be married without parental consent. It probably makes the remarriage of divorced couples easy. But still, marriage is marriage, and about the same when done in one way and place as another!

CHILD PROTECTION

Two small goat herders, brother and sister, were found frozen to death in deep drifts in Russia. They had perished in trying to herd 80 goats out of the storm. The little item may be just a reminder that child life everywhere is not protected as it is in our own country. And some of our state child labor legislation might indicate that we have a few things to learn on the subject, too!

The 600,000th telephone was recently installed in the London telephone area which has more than one-third of the total telephones in Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

HOW TO RELAX, AND SO REALLY REST

Probably I am telling you an old story when I remind you of all the times you have gotten up in the morning feeling as tired as when you went to bed the night before, or of the cat-nap you tried to get and desperately wanted after lunch, yet got up feeling worse than when you laid down?

You failed to RELAX, and the nerves were still as taut as when you were rushing to get lunch on the table and the Hungry Horde back to school on time.

Well, how does one go about relaxing? The first thing required is a conscious effort . . . you must admit that you are tired. The next thing is to dismiss for the time the mental cares that may be worrying, not so hard to do if you substitute the effort you make in relaxing, for the worries.

Lie flat on your back, head at elevation best liked . . . start with the feet and think them into limps. Slowly follow the thought on up . . . the knees will slump sideways . . . the body will feel as though it were sinking down, down into the bed.

Next the shoulders, arms and hands will loosen up . . . and last of all follow the same thought of LIMPNESS up the back of the neck to the top of head. Ten minutes of such absolute rest are worth ten hours of tossing unrest.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Veal Timbale Italienne
2 cups minced veal
3/4 cup cooked spaghetti
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons milk
1 egg, well beaten
Minced garlic, to taste
Salt and pepper
Chop the spaghetti fine, mix with the minced meat, butter and milk, and slowly heat in the top of a double boiler. And now about the garlic—

Let conscience be your guide! The recipe as given to me called for a teaspoonful of minced garlic . . . I am merciful when I leave the quantity to your taste. Onions may be substituted for the garlic.

Add the beaten egg to the hot mixture, flavor to taste, and bake in a buttered mold for 20 minutes. The mold must sit in a pan of hot water while baking.

Just 1350 calories make the total in this dish, and the portions are four. The spaghetti takes the place of potato, but not in such a degree that a semi-sweet vegetable cannot be served along with it. Baked squash or sweet potatoes are an example of what I mean.

At the Theatres

YOST BROADWAY

True wit, sparkling and clever, is to be heard at the Yost Broadway theater where George Jessel is holding forth in "Lucky Boy." This Tiffany-Stahl production is unique among the talking pictures, which have rarely offered anything so rich, so natural and so technically pleasing.

There is sparkling dialogue throughout the story; there are vaudeville acts and some excruciatingly funny amateur night efforts; and there is a Broadway chorus that dances and sings so that it can be heard.

The dialogue and titles of "Lucky Boy" are credited to George Jessel, and certainly no one else could have authored them. One feels quite certain that most of George's own lines were extemporaneous, the same as if he were speaking to you from behind vaudeville's footlights. Margaret Quimby speaks her lines naturally and acts with a graceful ease that belongs to her exquisite beauty. She is the perfect foil for Jessel in this opus. Rosa Rosanova is the mother whose belief in her George never wavered and William K. Strauss is the I-told-you-so father. Gwen Lee, Richard Tucker and Gayne Whitman prove worthy of the good parts given them.

WEST END

Lon Chaney, a paralyzed, vengeful Nemesis, ruling a savage tribe as a "white voodoo," in order to work out a monstrous revenge in the wilds of an African jungle, is the big drawing card today at the West End theater where "West of Zanzibar," a thrilling picture indeed, had its opening.

Chaney is seen as "Dead Legs Flint," former stage magician paralyzed by the man who stole the love of his wife, and trailing that man through the perilous wilds of the Belgian Congo in Africa. Lionel Barrymore plays the hunted enemy and Mary Nolan is seen as the heroine, Chaney's daughter, whose love regenerates a renegade physician among the unsavory crew in the Congo wilderness. This role is enacted by Warner Baxter.

Weird voodoo rites and ceremonies, are staged by several hundred natives in the spectacular jungle scenes. Chaney performs such tricks as fire eating and other stage magic, to cow the savages into obedience to his commands. The sensational climax, in which the revenge of the crippled magician turns on himself, is an astounding denouement.

Kalla Pasha, Roscoe Ward, Jane Daly and others of note are in the supporting cast.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Players in the chief roles of "Sally of My Dreams" Fox Films picturization of Edna Ferber's popular story of a stage star's life, at the Walker theater, were familiar from past experiences with many of the phases of the drama and its setting. In fact, this was one of the primary qualifications for these portrayals.

Consequently, the featured roles were entrusted to Madge Bellamy, who plays "Sally Quail," a pathetic figure for all the tinsel glory of her calling, Louise Dresser, as "Ma Quail" and Barry Norton, who plays "Bert," lover of "Sally."

Miss Bellamy, in her own life knew the "small time" and the "big time" both. Before coming to Broadway to play in Frohman productions, she played in stock in various parts of the United States. Louise Dresser was famous 20 years ago on the vaudeville boards, and appeared on Broadway with William Collier, Weber and Fields, Raymond Hitchcock and others.

Barry Norton, whose role is that of a "single pianologist" was a concert pianist for a time before entering pictures.

Albert Gran, who appears as "Max Kingston," theatrical manager, received his early theatrical training in Norway and subsequently in Germany and England, where he was well known on the boards.

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Well, my, cried Scouty," we are glad to welcome you, wee Clowny lad. We all were very scared. We thought you might be gone for good. Why, ever since the day you went into the cave, our time's been spent in searching for you far and wide. We've done the best we could."

"You bet we have," another cried. "At first we very vainly tried to move the rock that shut you in. It must have weighed a ton. And then we started looking 'round to see what entrance might be found, that led down to this winding cave. It wasn't any fun. 'At last, away up on a hill, we saw a sight that brought a thrill. It was a little hoist house, with a rope that led down into this cave, and you're the one we planned to save. But, when we reached the ground we didn't know just where to go."

"Well, well," said Clowny, "this is queer. You all were looking for me here, and at the same time I was trying to find a quick way out. I yelled your names as best I could, but, as you know, it did no good. 'That's very funny,' Coppy snapped. 'We didn't hear you shout.'

"Don't interrupt me," Clowny said. "Well, anyway I went ahead exploring through this coal black mine. And then I found this cave. We never know what is in store. We're all together, safe, once more. Let's look around together, now, and find out where we are."

Then Scouty whispered, "Listen, boys. I think I heard a little noise. Just hop around this corner and we'll see what we can see." And so, as they stood out of sight, there came a sudden flash of light. A funny little man stepped out, frisky as could be.

$1000 BAIL IS SET IN DRUNK DRIVING CASE

Clarence E. Brady, 42, Santa Ana man, residing at 925 French street was arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. His preliminary examination was set for 9 a. m., March 21, and bail was set at $1000 which he was unable to make.

Brady was arrested after his automobile had crashed into a building at Fairview avenue and Parton streets, occupied by a grocery store, and then bounded up on a lawn.

Officers reported that soon after the crash Brady appeared at the police station and reported that his car had been stolen. He said it may have been taken by a friend but that he thought that "I had better report it."

The "shower" will take place from above the Yost Broadway theater, at 3:30, as children are fresh from school, and will consist of innumerable bars and packages of chewing gum, placed in separate small bags attached to tissue parachutes, which will allow them to float gently to the ground.

WELL AT YORBA LINDA LEAGUE'S FORMED IN COUNTY

YORBA LINDA, March 19.—The Yorba Lindas have been watching with interest the Federal Oil company's Stein No. 1 well on Buena Vista. It has been standing cemented for some time and was drilled out Sunday for a production test. The high gas pressure believed that drilling was stopped just short of the oil sand and that the drill will have to go a few feet deeper. The depth is said to be 324 feet.

The Federal Oil company is rigging up for Davenport No. 2. The location is west and north of the intersection of Buena Vista and Eureka. A short distance away the Terminal Oil company expects to spud in today on its well on the Kroeger property.

North of Yorba Linda on Citrus avenue the Southwestern Oil company is drilling ahead on Day No. 2. The well is down 1700 feet and has passed through several gas pockets.

If the Federal gets a good producer in the Stein well it is expected that several other companies will start drilling operations in the Yorba Linda tract.

Financial and Market News

NEW YORK STOCKS

By RICHARD L. GRILEY

NEW YORK, March 19.—Continued firmness in the credit situation had comparatively little effect on the market today, the technical position of the market being improved by yesterday's late selling wave. Nevertheless, large offerings of stocks continued to meet advance in special issues and the market displayed a generally irregular tone.

Utilities were depressed sharply following their recent favorite advances while recent favorites like Ford Motor of Canada and Firestone sold off sharply.

Oils continued their improvement under the leadership of representative shares like Vacuum Oil, Standard Oil of Indiana and Continental Oil.

In the industrial list, Haycraft continued to furnish the principal feature running up nearly five points to a new 1929 high.

Certified Motor Market

W. E. PATTERSON, Prop.

The following article by Horace Fine in Saturday's Register sets forth the facts better than we can express them:

Patronize home industry!

That should be the slogan of householders in Santa Ana interested in promoting the future of this city and in increasing the value of their properties.

Patronizing home industry should apply as well to new and used automobiles as to other merchandise.

The idea that better bargains in used cars can be found at distant points than at home prevails among prospective purchasers of used cars, according to reports that indicate that Los Angeles and Long Beach markets are benefitting by Santa Ana residents buying used transportation from them.

My personal acquaintance with the car dealers of this city and my familiarity with their policies places me in position to say with definiteness that dealers outside of the city are not in position to offer transportation at less cost than the local car merchants.

It may be possible that prices quoted by outsiders have the appearance of bargains, but I will bet a dollar and a doughnut that when it comes to real value the home merchant has the outsider "skinned a mile."

Let's buy new and used cars and all other merchandise from Santa Ana business men!

What say!

Santa Ana is a growing community—has grown in spite of the fact that thousands upon thousands of dollars are spent annually by Santa Anans buying in outside markets articles they can buy here just as cheaply and with much more safety.

COMPULSORY AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

Massachusetts is the only state of the union thus far which has enacted a law compelling the owner of an automobile to carry liability insurance. Such a law seems so eminently just that there may be those who wonder why the example of Massachusetts has not been followed by all the other states. We all know of careless and insolent drivers who have inflicted injury on life and property, and the injured have had to stand all the expense and suffering. It is an unfortunate fact that there are so many insolvent owners of automobiles.

But Massachusetts has been having its troubles with this law. There is a tendency in human nature to get all we can when we feel that the getting is good. Injuries and accidents when caused by a poor man are always adjusted at a lower figure than when a rich man or a corporation is concerned. The ability to pay determines in the minds of many the amount they ought to get. The result in Massachusetts has been that the damages have been so much greater since the law went into effect that insurance companies have found themselves compelled to raise the rate to an almost prohibitive figure. A man who has his fender bumped by a man who carries no insurance is apt to have it fixed rather than go to the bother of collecting the small amount involved or be content to receive the small amount necessary to repair the damage. But if he knows that the man who has inflicted the damage is insured he is satisfied with nothing short of a new fender, and the insured is perfectly willing that he shall have it since he does not have to pay the damage himself.

A proposition has been made of a levy on all automobile owners, the fund thus created to be the source of all payments for damages. But we cannot see that such a law would help matters very much. The incentive to get all one can, and the indifference of the careless would not be minimized in the slightest. The only cure for carelessness is that a man should be made to suffer in some way for his carelessness. And the only cure for exorbitant exactions on the part of the damaged is that they shall not get an entirely new machine for a damaged one. Other states will be content to see Massachusetts work out the experiment to final practicability. Until that time those of us who have property will safeguard ourselves by letting an insurance company take the risk whether the state compels it or not.

England is trying to reach the difficulty by a proposed measure of making every motorist have a license test and carry liability insurance. This is not on the car but on the driver. This proposed bill would also equip every automobile with an automatic governor to prevent it exceeding the speed limit. We do not know how they proposed to adapt it to different speed limits, as in driving sometimes within five miles, we have a speed limit ranging from ten to 40 miles per hour.

The serious accidents which occur every week, as in Orange county this past week, emphasize the need of such legislation. For example, a car carrying six boys and girls from 15 to 18 years of age crashed into an approaching car in a head-on collision. One young lady was instantly killed and the others were badly cut and bruised, one suffering a fractured limb. The one car was demolished and the other badly damaged.

This property loss is lamentable, but the fact that one life was snuffed out, and several young men and women seriously injured, perhaps disfigured or maimed for life, is something that cannot be passed with a word of regret.

Such an accident is impossible without carelessness lying somewhere, and such carelessness should be penalized. Penalization by loss of license for careless driving is not too serious. Carelessness in handling such a tremendously powerful machine as an automobile may at any time result in personal injury if not loss of life.

President Hoover didn't send Secretary Mellon's name to Congress to be confirmed, thereby depriving several senators of a chance for a Mellon cutting.

JUDGE, LAWYER OR MERE MAN?

The argument on the Hardy demurrer to the articles of impeachment is a flood of technicalities.

Assuming that he did all the things charged against him, he was entirely within the law. That is what a demurrer means. If he did these things, then it was when he was judge before and not this time, and because he has been elected since, he cannot be guilty, and consequently though he might have been guilty when he was judge before January 1925, he is not guilty now.

The acts moreover, were not connected with his official duties. In other words, he did not receive $2500 for deciding a case or using his office as judge to benefit anyone, he only practiced law on the side.

The constitution says a judge shall not practice law "in any court." Therefore, his lawyer argued that even if he did receive $2500 for legal advice, he did not appear as counsel for Mrs. McPherson in court and before a judge. He may do everything a lawyer can do in advice and counsel, preparing papers, and even preparing trial and appeal briefs, but if he stops at the door of the court room he has committed no offense.

All legal advice given to Aimee and her mother, and all his activities in their behalf was given as a friend and paid for by a "love offering." He did not do all this as a judge of the superior court. He divested himself of the sanctity of that office, laid that particular part of his personality and calling aside, and proceeded to be a lawyer and not a judge. He was in reality a judge of the superior court when he instigated investigations of the notorious disappearance of Mrs. McPherson, but he took off the robes of office. No, he did not resign in order that he might help, but he became an entirely different person. As judge he probably did not even know what Carlos Hardy the attorney, was doing or how it was done. He was merely a friendly attorney, and when he ascended the bench he was Judge Hardy and not Carlos Hardy the attorney.

Carlos Hardy and not Judge Hardy delivered a speech to Moore, who saw Ormiston and a veiled lady driving at the time of the disappearance of Aimee. This speech had for its theme the danger of committing perjury and of making false identification. Judge Hardy probably would have scorned to do this to a possible or prospective witness, especially as the superior court is a single institution although with many judges of which he was one. Judge Hardy could hardly take judicial notice of what a private attorney had done, even though this private attorney was none other than Carlos Hardy the judge's other self.

Is it any wonder that the layman is befogged and rather welcomes the passing of the demurrer? If this demurrer be sustained by the Senate, Carlos Hardy is still judge, and as judge is entitled to all the respect of that judicial office, even though the demurrer admits all that is charged in the articles of impeachment and Carlos Hardy and Judge Hardy remain two different men, even as the Reverend Gruver, who decided that he as co-executor did not know what Mr. Gruver his other self was doing.

Now that Mr. Coolidge is going to write for the magazines, why doesn't someone suggest a little essay on the word "chose."

A BIBLE CLASS PROJECT

The members of the Bible class of the First Presbyterian church of Nashville, Tenn., under the inspiration of their pastor, have adopted a solemn pledge not to patronize bootleggers. The report is that of the one hundred members of the class 66 signed the pledge that they would observe the law and have nothing to do with bootlegging.

This is a news item for Mr. Mencken's Americana in the "American Mercury." To think that the members of a Bible class should be pledged to obey the law, and to refrain from buying whiskey from bootleggers, is a strange commentary on the character of the membership of that Tennessee Bible class. We should like to know what are the religious ideals and the ethics of the Bible class when it is necessary to pledge its members to obedience to the laws of the land. And if it is necessary to pledge the membership of that Bible class to obedience to the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead Act, why not go further, and pledge them to a great many other laws now on the statute books. Things have come to a pretty pass when it becomes necessary for the members of a Bible class of a Christian church to regulate their civic conduct in such a way as this pledge implies, or it is a monumental joke at which the ungodly will laugh.

We have no doubt that there are also church members who do patronize bootleggers. But there are also church members who break other laws of the state. Some things, however, ought to be assumed, and one of them is that members of a Bible class, composed, in the main of the most earnest group of Christians in a church, should not be under the necessity of pledging themselves to the elementary obligations of good citizenship. Had the members of that class pledged themselves to use their influence to persuade others from patronizing bootleggers, it would have been beyond the need of pledging themselves to so elementary a project of civic decency, to say nothing of high Christian obligation.

Instructing the Emotions

New York Times

The Superintendent of Schools in Boston, Jeremiah E. Burke, has started a program designed to train the pupils' emotions—"to bring their emotions under the control of reason and volition." In 1927 a document was published setting forth the educability of the emotions. In 1928 the emotion of fear was especially considered in a second document, on controlling fear, and a practical course, conducted through classroom experiment in the fifth and successive grades and in limited time so as not to encroach upon other subjects, was begun. The emphasis is put upon conquering undesirable fears by which we are all harassed, in the form of timidity or self-consciousness, dread of ridicule or failure, and upon "raising fear to the level of intellectualized caution."

The discussion proceeds somewhat as follows: Fear is a problem common to all; there can be no courage without fear, for courage means its overcoming; few fears are inborn, which means that they are acquired and hence avoidable. From this the child should learn to face fear directly and not by irrational evasive means, making false excuses, etc. Out of it all there is sought to develop in the child a simple technique in meeting real-life fear situations, and in finding "compensatory adjustments" when effort has been thwarted.

So far as known, this program is without precedent, and so is a belated endeavor systematically and scientifically to banish what has been said for ages to be the hindrance to all virtues. But Boston is perhaps the place where such an experiment would have great promise of success, for it is the new world capital of the region of "intellectualized caution."

Romance In a Work Bench

Christian Science Monitor

Someone has said there is romance in the smoke of a far-off chimney or the glint of light from a cottage window. But no one seems to say a word for the work bench, neglected to some extent by the overwhelming interest in radio. Yet, what tales spring from its rugged top, its indispensable vise, its shelf of tools, its tray of nails! What an inspiring resort for the leisure evening! Every man aspires to a work bench, a solid, substantial place where he can exert his genius, exercise his patience, accomplish something worth while. No other place affords him such opportunity to utilize his powers to the full—the hand, the head and the heart. If the essence of romance is in these three, then the work bench is romantic.

What a tale hides in the key rack on the wall, inlaid, glued, papered to win the favor of a friend! Or the flower stand, or the table end, or the shelf with its bracket groaning under a load of paint cans disclosing their colors in the streamlets down the side! To what purpose the making of these but to be of service? Even the bench itself, what joyful evenings have gone to its making; its side play teaching the need of braces, just as experience taught Franklin how hard it was for an empty sack to stand upright; its forgotten holes for a bench-stop driving home the value of a plan.

Had the bench the gift of voice it would need no champion, for if the horseshoe nail deserved the place it held in the story world of a generation ago, the work bench rises to epic proportions.

LA DONNA E MOBILE

When the curious custom of wearing high heels was affected by women of wealth, Physicians implored them, in frantic appeals Not to ruin their gait and their health.

They said that this clumsy unnatural style Would make the sex halting and lame,

But the women continued serenely to smile And wore their high heels, just the same.

They wore them to parties, they wore them to court They wore them where doctors disapproved.

Though the doctors scowled their dissent, They wore them on horseback, they wore them for sport.

They wore them wherever they went, And although the doctors protested a lot

The records as pictured reveal That their mutterings never abated a jot

From the height of a feminine heel. But now a physician arises to say

That high heels do not do any harm, In fact, he has found that their pedal array

Adds much to the fair sex's charm. He says that they give not a wrench to the spine

In short, he declares that the style Of wearing tall footwear is dandy and fine

And ought to exist a long while. I am prone to suspect that this medical man

Is a little addicted to guile. And is wise in the ways of the feminine clan

And the methods of feminine style. There's a sinister purpose behind his appeals;

He thinks that if women once know That doctors now really approve of high heels

They will all soon be wearing them low!

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOON

Do you know what is on the other side of the moon? It always keeps one side hidden. No one has ever seen that other side. No one knows what it is like.

But just between us two, I will tell you what it is like. It is a place where fruit trees grow up-side-down with the roots in the air and the tops on the grounds, so you don't have to climb up to get the fruit. It is right there waiting for you.

It is a place where everybody understands what the cat says. The birds can talk to the butterflies. And the cat can say: "No, thank you. I don't care for fish today. I would rather have liver."

There children choose their parents instead of being just born in a willy-nilly fashion. And when two children want the same parent, do you know what happens? They are born twins.

On the other side of the moon there are no trains, subways or interurbans or automobiles. People travel by standing still.

It is this way. They just suspend themselves up in the air above the surface of their globe and let it spin on under them. When they see the place they want to reach approaching below them they descend and there they are!

There is a rule that those who want to go long distances have to ascend higher than those going short distances. This is because on the lower levels the air is usually full of people with market baskets, or taking live-stock to near-by towns, or moving their furniture from house to house.

It is a place where water runs up hill and flowers and trees (all except cultivated trees—they are tame) walk about. So if one wants to cut down a tree he has to chase it.

But, strangest of all, they raise their clothes and manufacture their food.

Cobblers manufacture steaks and tailors make the pancakes. And shoe-trees are real trees. And trouser-trees are cultivated in long rows. And mittens grow like cauliflower.

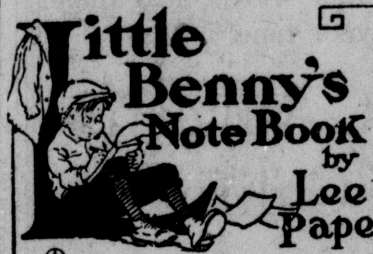

Now, some people may think this is all made up.

But you want to be careful of such people. They never have seen the other side of the moon!

There are lots more funny things on the other side of the moon. For instance, all the boys are named Henry. Boys do not have different names. They believe in democracy over there and carry it to the limit. When you want your boy you just step to the door, stick your head out and call, "Henry." Then they take a vote on it and the one that is elected comes in. This is much simpler and better than our way of doing.

They grant divorces over there in just the opposite way from that which we use. We say there shall be no divorce if there is collusion. They say the parties must be agreed before there is a divorce, and there you can get a divorce as easily as getting married.

Pop was smoking to himself and I sed, Hay pop, if a fellow has money gave to him by mistake, is it legal according to law and can he keep it?

What fellow is that? pop sed. Me, I sed, and pop sed, O, that fellow. Well perhaps I better hear the plot of the story before I can tell you the end, he sed.

Meaning he wouldn't say yet, and I sed, Well I tell you, I was wawking along and I saw some kid with glasses on looking down at a iron grating in front of a store, and I asked him why and he sed he was looking at a dime he had dropped down there, and I looked down and I could see it down there, and there was a sign on the store saying Closed for Alterations, so the kid with glasses couldn't do anything about it, and after a while he got tired looking and went away and I kepp on standing there looking and wishing I was some kind of a magnet that could attract dimes, and some lady stopped going pass and looked down and saw what I was looking at, and she sed, Why you poor child, now you just stop worrying and run along with this. And she gave me a dime out of her pocketbook and went away before I stopped being surprised, so is it really my dime according to law or not? I sed.

Its a very nifty problem, pop sed. Of course in a way you were practically knocked down and had the money forced on you, but just the same that duzent alter the fact that the lady gave it to you under false assumption, so at least from the highest moral point of view you have no rite to it, he sed.

Well then G, pop, will it be all rite if I ever see her agen if I give her a dime to make up for it? I sed, and pop sed, Why yes, I suppose that would square up the account from a strictly ethical standpoint.

Me thinking, Well anyways I may never see her agen, and even if I see her I probably wont rek-onize her, and even if I rek-onize her I probably wont have a dime with me, and even if I do, it probably wont belong to me.

Making me feel better insted of worse.

GRANT'S FIRST MOVES

Sixty-five years ago today the Federal offensive, under General U. S. Grant, who had just assumed command of the Union forces, took the form which ultimately resulted in victory for the Union cause.

Roughly, this date, in 1864, saw the taking of the first step in the historic "march through Georgia," for on that day General William Tecumseh Sherman assumed command of the Federal army of the Mississippi, succeeding General Grant, who took personal charge a few days later of the army of the Potomac.

Sherman had been in charge of forces in Tennessee when Grant was placed in chief command. It was at his own request that Grant gave him the larger commission. McPherson succeeded to Sherman's old post and Logan was given McPherson's command.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

SICK AGRICULTURE IMPROVES
In some ways, what happens to American agriculture is as vital to Canada, South America, Europe, and the Orient, as to the United States, so interdependent has the economic life of the modern world become.

I list, therefore, some interesting facts from the Agricultural front. In 1919, a year of inflated returns, agriculture realized, according to the best available estimates, 6.3 per cent return on its invested capital.

In 1920, a year of collapsed income, agriculture realized only 1 per cent return on invested capital and management.

In 1921, the patient showed a barely noticeable improvement, agriculture realizing 1.2 per cent return.

In 1922, the return increased to 3.2 per cent.

In 1923, the return had increased to 5.2 per cent.

In 1924, the return showed a slump.

In 1927 and in 1928, the return has again begun to climb upward.

The year 1929 saw farmers loaded with debts for land they had bought at inflated boom prices.

The years 1921-24 saw the farmer hit hard by a tumble in land prices; the balloon of boom prices was being deflated; and some day a novel list of insight will go behind the statistics of that period and give us a stripping story of the tragedies that lay behind the tobogganing sales prices that followed the skyrocketing purchase prices for land. But now this deflation is about completed, and agriculture, although hard hit, is upon a more dependable basis of land values.

In 1920 land values were 70 per cent above pre-war values.

In 1923 land values were only 17 per cent above pre-war values.

The annual income from the average farm is still low, but it is more nearly in keeping with its actual value, and it is definitely on the up grade.

Science and machinery are coming to the aid of the farmer, and the aid they are bringing is seen in a comparison of the period of 1922-1926 with the period of 1917-1921.

In 1922-1926 there were fewer acres in crops, fewer cattle and hogs and horses on the farms, fewer farms in operation; and fewer men working on farms, and yet agricultural production was 14 per cent greater than in 1917-1921.

Science will give new outlets for farm products.

Machinery will cut agricultural production costs.

Improved knowledge and control of marketing will increase the amount of the sales price going to the farmer.

Sick agriculture is showing that its recuperative powers are at work. Copyright 1929 McClure Newspr's Syn.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

PUBLIC MANNERS

My Dear Children: Not long ago I was riding in a street car toward the late afternoon. Beside myself there were about a dozen people, all past their first youth save a baby that slept in its mother's arms. She was a very tired looking mother and the baby was pale and worn. Dark circles rimmed its eyes and its little hands lay limply on the blanket which the mother kept anxiously stroking from time to time.

The car stopped near a big school and like a charging herd of buffaloes, a crowd of school children fell upon the scene. They yelled, they screamed, they pushed and they shoved; they playfully swung their book bags at each other's heads; they sat down suddenly on each other's laps shrieking with glee. Repeatedly they stepped on the feet of the elderly people in the car and again and again they bumped against the mother with the sick baby.

The conductor was as patient as patient could be but when the frightened mother stood up in an attempt to leave the car lest her child be hurt he shouted his wrath and stopped the car. "Either you all sit down and behave or I'll whistle for the police. You're hurting a sick baby. Shame on the lot of you. It's in jail you ought to be instead of school!"

Gradually they quieted down. The mother and the sick baby left the car at the next corner. The conductor collected their fares grumbling at each offender and explaining to the adults how very annoying they were getting to be. "They seem to be running wild," said he. "No manners at all. It's a wonder their teachers wouldn't see to them a little."

I have seen just such happenings on other occasions, in other cities. It is an old story. Free of the suppression of the school you break loose and exhibit your very worst selves. Don't you know that your conduct, your manners, WHEN YOU ARE FREE OF SUPERVISION are a truthful picture of you just at that moment? Are you proud of the rude, loud, selfish, unmannerly attitude you display in public places? Nobody likes it. Everybody who sees it is sorry; sorry that you are like that; sorry that you think it a happy thing to do.

No teacher, no school, no parent can be held responsible for your bad manners in public places. You alone are responsible for them. When you exhibit such bad form as screaming and pushing and rough-housing you are trying to tell the world how wonderful you are and succeeding only in telling it how wrong you are, how untutored, how underbred.

Make up your mind that you will assume the manners and social attitudes of the best mannered people you know. The very best manners you can command are none too good for the street cars, the movies, the sidewalks. Beautiful conduct reflects a beautiful soul! Assume it if you have it and it will become your own! (Copyright 1929 by The Bell Syn., Inc.)

WESTERN OIL REFINING OPENS OFFICE IN S. A.

The Western Oil and Refining company, of Los Angeles, has opened an office in the First National bank building here. In the same office, a branch of the Western Securities company will have desk room, with Reeves Aylmore in charge, with whom will be associated O. J. Wegell, of Pasadena, and A. D. Holloway, of Whittier.

The latter three will handle exclusively through the Western Securities, a Los Angeles brokerage firm, all of the securities of the Western Oil and Refining company in this county.

The Western Oil and Refining company was organized six years ago last May and is the result of an idea of Richard Florian, the president and general manager. From an 'idea' the company has grown to a modern up-to-date refining plant to seventh place among the refineries operating in Los Angeles basin. The company began manufacturing gasoline two years ago and is now making and selling 2,000,000 gallons of gasoline per month and 10,000 barrels of fuel oil.

One of the principal reasons for the company coming to Santa Ana is the fact that the First National bank has been selected as a depository for the company funds.

Some time ago, it became necessary for the Western Oil and Refining company to operate in Orange county and it felt that it needed the services of an Orange county man on the board of directors. Clyde C. Downing, of this city, was selected for the position.

Aylmore announces that an active campaign of education covering the merits of the securities of the Western Oil and Refining company out of his office at 309 First National bank building, with the idea of giving to the investors of Orange county an opportunity to invest in and share the profits of the Western Oil and Refining company.

LIGHT SYSTEM PROPOSED FOR BEACH STREET

NEWPORT BEACH, March 19.—Additional lighting is desired by the residents of Palm avenue in Balboa, it was stated at last night's city council meeting. A committee will be named by Mayor Johnson to investigate the matter.

Action on zoning was delayed owing to the fact the maps had not been delivered.

Letters from Dr. Noyes and J. J. Lawrence were read concerning the groins on the east bank of the channel as recommended by the board of engineers in the entrance development project. The letters were turned over to the engineer to file with all documents received incident to that work.

Smith brothers have requested immediate action concerning the city dock, which is said to be overlapping their land. The Smiths are willing to co-operate with the city in any feasible way but want to get their dock functioning for the summer season, it was stated. The city engineer has been instructed to arrive at an agreement.

A year or so ago an effort was made towards establishing a street along the P. E. right-of-way from Thirtieth street west. Lew Wallace was appointed to head a committee to take the matter up again.

H. L. Sherman and F. Cloise were named as a committee to look into the possibility of establishing a ferry from the sand pit to Corona del Mar and to ascertain what arrangements can be made as to landings and approaches to the same.

The county will be asked to put in repair the county road around the foot of the bluff between Balboa Island and Corona del Mar.

HOME PLANNED

ANAHEIM, March 19.—H. C. Pell, of 504 East Sycamore street, has taken out a building permit for a six-room stucco residence to cost $5500.

Other building permits issued recently included one to N. H. Hatfield, 219 North Clementine street, for a double garage to cost $350 and one to M. G. Cummings, 713 North Topeka for alterations on his dwelling to cost $100.

Eleven persons were fined in police court yesterday on charges of violation of the city's parking laws and 15 others were arrested yesterday to appear on similar charges within the next five days.

The drive against the "overtime parker," started by Chief of Police Claude Rogers several weeks ago, will continue, Rogers said today, and the motorist who takes a chance and leaves his machine over time in the limited zones will find the odds very much against him.

Those fined yesterday were Mrs. Mundell, L. M. Lafolett, Mrs. R. M. Wolven, R. Featherstone, Will Lundak, Kenneth Price, M. J. Joska, Don Kester, Mrs. Susan Rutherford, A. L. McClelland and Lee Kluthe.

Charged with parking their cars on the city streets between 2 and 5 a. m., the following persons were given $2 fines in police court yesterday: Roy Rhyno, Ralph Romo, C. M. McNelly and Marvin Meyer.

Bud Kearns, charged with being drunk, was ordered to jail for 10 days in police court yesterday and Robert Bracken, charged with vagrancy, was given a suspended sentence. Thomas M. Clark, charged with parking in a restricted district, was given a $2 fine.

AUTO LAUNDRY IS OPENED BY J. T. VAN WHY

The "Santa Ana Auto Laundry" is the name given by J. T. Van Why to his new business enterprise, opened today on the north-west corner of Fifth and French streets.

Van Why has been engaged in the automobile business in this city for a number of years and the beauty and arrangement of his service station and laundry reflects his observation of what a station should be.

The laundry building has been completed in steel and finished in white, both interior and exterior, giving a striking appearance to the structure.

Every modern device for washing, polishing and greasing automobiles has been installed. Washing is on the continuous operation plan, with all the equipment arranged convenient to the operators. Pressure pumps and a water softener have been installed for the washing process and for cleaning cars, even to the cleaning by vacuum of cushions. Hydraulic lifts are employed in the greasing department.

Four brands of gasoline are dispensed.

There are now five private telephone companies operating in Italy.

La Habrans Plan Joint Meeting To Discuss Highway

LA HABRA, March 19.—A joint meeting with the Fullerton Real Estate board was planned at the meeting of the La Habra Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The joint meeting is to be held to consider the highway that is proposed to connect La Habra with the western city limits of Fullerton. According to present plans the road will cut across the Bastanchury ranch and provide a short cut between the two cities.

Other road improvements discussed by the Chamber included the proposed extension of Walnut street through to La Habra Heights. It was reported that nothing more could be done on this project until the return of one of the property owners in this district.

GOLFERS YOU HAVE MET

THE STRONGEST PART OF SOME PEOPLE'S GAME IS THEIR LANGUAGE—

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

FIGHT RESULTS

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York light heavyweight, today held a 10-round decision over Leo Lonski, Aberdeen, Wash. Lonski's face was marred from the singing left jab Rosenbloom administered from the first round on. In the second round Lonski was warned for elbowing. The third round was the Westerner's best and he staggered Rosenbloom with a series of rights to the heart.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 19.—Kid Chocolate, Cuban bantamweight, continued to ride the crest of fistic success today after his four round knockout victory over Al Rackow of Syracuse here last night.

The Cuban found Rackow a rather easy opponent and the end was apparent several minutes before Chocolate landed the punch that ended what was scheduled to be a 10-round bout.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Nando Tassi of Italy won from George Courtney of Oklahoma on a foul at the Broadway arena last night in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

BEARS WHIP TROJANS

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—The Golden Bears of California copped the series against the University of Southern California here yesterday, 7 to 5. A nine-inning rally which netted five runs gave California the game.

Eighteen years ago George Hackenschmidt, great European wrestler, came to this country with the hope of winning the world's championship. This he failed to do, but his bout with Frank Gotch at Chicago set a world's record for attendance and gate receipts.

Hackenschmidt, his hands folded, is shown here in the center of the group. The picture was taken in front of a frame house on the north shore of Chicago where Hackenschmidt resided during his training sojourn.

Next to the famous wrestler, his left hand in his coat pocket, is another husky, although neither a wrestler nor fighter. This gentleman is none other than the Marquis of Queensbury, whose daddy drew up the boxing rules under which all glove bouts are held.

The marquis came to this country at the invitation of a chain of newspapers to write the match. Naturally enough, he was wine and dined and fussed over, but the marquis showed a decided preference for going about quietly with the boys.

The man behind the bushy mustache, second from the left, is John Koch, secretary to the marquis. Otto Floto, of circus fame, is between Hackenschmidt and the marquis. On the extreme right is Americus, a Baltimore wrestler, and next to him is Ed Smith, a writer.

A lot of water has run under the bridge since this distinguished gathering strolled about the Lake Michigan waterfront, but not enough to surpass the records set when Hackenschmidt made his bid and failed.

On that day receipts amounting to $94,000 were taken in at Comiskey park, the site of the bout, and 30,000 mat fans witnessed the struggle. Quite a difference from the bouts held today where 5000 persons constitute a big crowd.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

suming the management of a team that won a pennant last year and one that is given only a fair chance by the experts to win this year.

If the team doesn't finish in first place, off will go his head in the fall. They lop off managerial heads in St. Louis as an annual fall function.

Bill McKeechle led the club into the world series last fall and his reward was a demotion to Rochester, where Southworth won an International league pennant last year. And if Southworth doesn't finish ahead of the Cubs, the Giants and the Pirates this year he will be farmed out to one of the many rural clubs that the St. Louis men own.

HAVE NO WORRIES

Johnson does not admit that he is in a tough spot and neither does Southworth. They are smiling essentially. Johnson had a tough experience last year with Newark when three or four bad actors on the ball club took advantage of his nice disposition, but he says he has learned his lesson.

Southworth says he had no serious trouble with the Rochester club, but the ball players of the International league say his men worked on his easy disposition until he got hard with them.

SPOKEN LIKE A MAN

"That is not correct," Southworth said. "I didn't get hard with that ball club last year. I just asked them to play ball with me and I went out and played ball with them."

"I want to play the outfield every day with the Cardinals. If one of those other fellows don't beat me out of the job, I think a playing manager is the best. He can lead the men when he is on the field and he doesn't have to drive them. I have had experience under rough driving managers and I don't believe that it works."

"The average ball player in the major leagues is an intelligent, grown-up man and the younger fellows are smart fellows with good educations. You can't drive them. But you can show them."

CLUB WILL HUSTLE

"I know all the ball players on the St. Louis club and they know me. And there isn't a bad actor on the club," he added, using almost the identical words that

Johnson used in talking about the men on his Washington club.

"Everyone told me," Southworth went on, "that I was falling into the hardest job in baseball when I accepted the promotion to St. Louis. Maybe it is a hard job. Any manager's job is not a cinch, but I took it. I am young and I have ambition."

"Baseball is my business and the only place for a ball player to be is in the major leagues. The minor leagues, for a man who has been up in the big time, is just a place where you work for a salary. To the rookies, with ambition, it is different, of course."

"I don't know what success I will have with the club. Perhaps I should put it that I don't know what success we are going to have because I intend to make a 'We' proposition out of the club. I think we have a very good ball club. I didn't see them last year. But I know that any club with as many good men as we have can win if they hustle, and I know we are going to hustle."

SERAPHS NOSE OUT CUBS

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—A double by "Jigger" Statz which was responsible for two runs in the last of the ninth inning, gave the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league team a 12-11 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Six home runs, one by Chicago and five by Los Angeles, were hit during the game.

Great Britain now has telephone communication with eighteen foreign countries.

G. & L. LEASE

G. AND L. LEASE, March 19.—Mrs. C. L. Rose and small son left Sunday evening for Spokane to be gone several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Klotz, of Los Angeles, spent Sunday in the J. P. Varner home, Mrs. Klotz remaining over for a few days visit.

Mrs. Delano and daughter, Mrs. Grace Goodell, of Buena Park, were recent all day guests in the home of Mrs. Anna Varner.

Miss Esther Wade spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wade.

Mrs. Walter Smith and Mr. and Mrs. A. N. White spent Sunday at Capistrano Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mayfield and two daughters spent Sunday in the W. Pruitt home in Atwood.

Miss Margaret Jones, of Los Angeles, visited her home over the week end.

Miss Margaret Henthore was a visitor in the K. L. Sellers home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kunzelman and two small daughters were Sunday guests of the Oliver Hills in Laguna Beach.

Service only seasons
such a car

THE utmost care is observed in fashioning and fitting Lincoln parts. In over a hundred operations accuracy is held to an almost incredible fineness—actually fifteen times less than the diameter of a human hair! With such very, very close co-ordination of its working parts, this fine car goes into service without needing a "breaking-in" period—and it continues quietly, faultlessly performing for years, without destructive wear.

So fine a thing as a Lincoln inspires careful ownership... and gains by service something of the same quality that a good house gathers in an owner's appreciative possession—a seasoning that does not detract from its worth or make it any the less valued by a new buyer. Lincolns of previous years are occasionally offered for resale.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on our floor. Every one is in perfect mechanical condition. We are always glad to demonstrate them to you, without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.
